

FASTING SPECIALIST READY TO TACKLE ATHLETES

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 27.—Dr. Linda Burfield Hazzard, the fasting specialist, under penitentiary sentence for manslaughter, and out on bond, pending the hearing of her appeal, is coming back into the limelight, which she deserted at the conclusion of her 40-day fast last summer.

The faster has been recovering from the effects of the fast at her country home at Olalla, Kitsap county.

Dr. Hazzard, who weighed 142 pounds at the beginning of the fast and 102 at the end, now weighs 146. Her diet, she says, is strictly vegetarian, and she eats only two meals a day.

She says she takes daily sun, air and tub baths, and for exercise plays baseball, handball and tennis, and boxes, wrestles and runs.

The picture of the faster in tights was taken by The Day Book staff photographer. Dr. Hazzard is 45 years old.

"I will," she says, "box, wrestle or run a footrace with any amateur sportswoman, any age, for money or for fun."

"That's an awfully loud suit you have on. What's the matter with it?" "Crash."
